Supply & Demand Database

A global reference in petrochemical market data, the ICIS Supply and Demand Database brings you a wealth of data covering refining, petrochemical feedstocks, base chemicals, intermediates and derivatives markets.

It incorporates four fully reconciled databases in one easy-to-use interface, providing you with supply, demand, production capacity, and trade flows to empower long-term, evidence based decision-making.

Search, shape and export historical and projected data from all over the world, looking back to 1978 and forward up to 2040, across 160 countries and 100 markets.

Expanding our analytics solutions

At ICIS, our aim is to give companies in global commodities markets a competitive advantage by delivering valuable information and analytics tools which enable our customers to identify and react to opportunities in markets which are constantly evolving.

ICIS experts use their in-depth knowledge, together with robust data, to build short-to-long-term views of commodities markets. As market intelligence needs are becoming more complex, ICIS is responding by adding diagnostic and predictive capabilities to help decision-makers respond more effectively to market changes.

Our new Petrochemicals Analytics Solutions offer a whole-market perspective as well as robust analytics tools to examine below the surface and see the true impact of change as it happens. This puts you in a stronger position to navigate today's demand-led, price-sensitive global market-place. The combination of at-a-glance data, visuals and forward thinking provides a holistic view, plus the detail behind it, so you can optimise your trades, plans and strategies.

ICIS is the provider to offer a unique combination of analytics tools as part of our pricing information subscriptions for a large selection of petrochemicals and fertilizers commodities.
